ALBANY, ALABAMA, THURSDAY, MAY 14, 1925

NUMBER 66

WASHINGTON, May 14—Alabama: Fair tonight and Wednesday.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY TO SPEND BIG SUM HERE

Alabama Street Site Is Picked By Commission

HIGHWAY BRIDGE TO LAND ON BOUNDARY LINE OF TWO CITIES

Resolution Adopted By Roads Body at Meet At Montgomery

COUNCILS TO ACT ON BONDS TODAY

Issues To Be Advertised By Municipalities Immediately

The Alabama state highway commission has definitely chosen Alabama street as the site for the new highway bridge across the Tennessee river here, and the city councils of Albany and Decatur, in their meetings Thursday, are expected to adopt the ordinances preparatory to the sale of the two $50,000 bond issues, recently voted to aid the state in the undertaking.

These were the two outstanding developments in the bridge situation today.

The state highway commissioner yesterday adopted a resolution designating the Alabama street site for the bridge. Attorneys today were getting ready the material for the councils to act upon at their meeting today.

It was stated today that all of the preliminary arrangements now have been concluded. The councils are expected to advertise the sale of the bonds at once, the state highway commission on May 17 will advertise for bids for the bridge. These bids probably will be opened and contracts awarded about 30 days later, work is to begin on July first.

The resolution adopted by the highway commission yesterday follows:

WHEREAS, it has been ascertained by this commission that the cities of Decatur and Albany are adjoining and contiguous and border the Tennessee river on its south side in Morgan County, Alabama and that Alabama street is the dividing line between the two said cities where they border on the Tennessee River, and

WHEREAS, this commission has, by proper resolution heretofore regularly adopted, declared its intention to make all proper and needed orders and take all preliminary proceedings for the construction of a good, substantial and adequate bridge of standard type and design, twenty feet wide, across the Tennessee River at or near the municipalities of Decatur and Albany, Alabama, when there is placed with or under the control of the State Treasurer of Alabama the sum of One Hundred Thousand Dollars, supplementing the funds under the supervision of this commission available for the building of this bridge and to be employed by this commission in and about the construction and completion of said bridge, and

WHEREAS, this commission has, by proper resolution heretofore regularly adopted, declared its intention to make all necessary surveys and soundings and if it was found equally feasible with other locations it would locate the south or Decatur and Albany end of said bridge at Alabama street, and

WHEREAS, such surveys and soundings have been made, and the fact established that said location at Alabama street is equally feasible with other locations:

NOW THEREFORE, be and it is hereby ordered by the Highway Commission of the State of Alabama, that the south or Decatur and Albany end of the said bridge shall be located at Alabama Street, which is the boundary line between the cities of Decatur and Albany, provided the said Alabama street shall be opened and prepared suitably for travel without cost to the state of Alabama.

WHIP RAMPLEY FOR LOVE AFFAIR

Louisiana Whipping Case Brought To Close In State Court

(Associated Press)

SHREVEPORT, La., May 14.—Five men, all deacons of the Atkins avenue Baptist church, in Cedar Grove, a suburb, pleaded guilty in state district court here today to assault and battery and conspiracy to commit assault in connection with the flogging last January in Cedar Grove of Hubert Rampley.

It was brought out that Rampley was whipped because he was keeping company with Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Skidmore, who was then suing her husband for a divorce and whom Rampley has since married. They reside in Shreveport.

The men were sentenced by Judge Stephens to serve seven months in the parish jail, subject to work on the parish farm. The men are: W. Conrad Oliver, choir director of the church, who recently was convicted of conspiracy in connection with the flogging of John Barker for allowing his daughter to wear nickers and ride a bicycle; A. H. Nettles, deputy city marshal; M. U. Boatright, N. W. Nugent and Forest Lee.

Just after sentence was pronounced on the five, Oliver was sentenced to serve seven months on the Barker charge, the sentence to run concurrently with the other sentence.

When the seven men were arraigned, Judge Stephens asked them if they had anything to say.

Oliver replied: "Nothing more than to apologize for our action."

Another of the men added:

"We are sorry it took place. We felt that it was for the benefit of the neighborhood and the church work. We were all deacons and active in the church. We advised the man prior to this. We are sorry we took the law into our hands and realize we did wrong."

The other three men said they had nothing to say.

NEGRO REPORTED HANGED TO TREE

Mob of Men Then Sent Bullets Through Body of Black

(Associated Press)

ORLANDO, Fla., May 14—Sheriff Kerel, of Orange county, was informed by telephone from Sanford today that a negro, West, was lynched by a mob last night at Longwood 15 miles north of Orlando.

The message said the negro was charged with attacking a young woman of Sanford two weeks ago.

A group of Sanford men, the message continued, had been looking for West, who was reported to have been missing. Finding the negro last night the mob was said to have hanged him on a tree and riddled his body with bullets.

PROPOSAL TO SELL SHIPS TO FORD HAS FOUND OPPOSITION

Thompson Against Any Scrapping Program, Statement Says

NO OFFER IS YET MADE BY FORD

Members Awaiting The Chairman's Return From Detroit

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 14—Henry Ford's willingness to buy 400 ships from the shipping board, involving a large scrapping program, met with immediate opposition today in some shipping board quarters.

While the view was expressed that eventually 300 or 400 of the later ships, including for the most part tankers, would be forced on the junk pile, some of the commissioners said that that it was by no means certain that the board would agree to any wholesale scrapping for sometime to come.

At the same time it was made clear that no offer from Mr. Ford had been received at the board, and the members are awaiting the return of Chairman O'Connor from a trip to Detroit and Buffalo before formally going into such a question.

Commissioner Thompson, in a statement, said:

"For a long time certain American owners and operators of foreign flag ships have been urging the destruction of a large portion of government ships, but none of the surplus ships of other countries are destroyed nor had such been proposed.

"It is costing approximately $500 each a year to keep the surplus ships owned by the government. Their value, as naval auxiliaries at this moment of world conditions, cannot be accurately measured. Their value as important units in an American merchant marine, when normal world conditions are restored, is an added security to American exporters, producers and consumers.

"Obviously it would be greatly to the marine interests of foreign nations for the United States to destroy one third of its fleet of ships.

"As yet I have seen no sound reasons advanced why the United States, of all nations, should weaken its naval auxiliary and economic position in world trade, and stand alone in a program to remove surplus ships from it."

BURGLAR ALARM IS INSTALLED BY BANK

City National's Safety Device Rings Gong As a Warning

A burglar alarm of the most modern type has been installed by the City National Bank, as a precaution to safeguard the contents of the vault, in which the funds of the institution are kept, and which also accommodates many customers, who maintain safety-deposit boxes in the vault.

The alarm is so manipulated that in case of any attempt to open the vault, except in the ordinary course of business, that a huge gong outside of the bank, rings, giving warning to practically the entire city of the effort to open the door.

The alarm system also has an interior bell, which gives warning of anything wrong with the system. The bell rings if the vault is not properly closed at night. The system is the same which now is in use in many of the larger banking institutions of the country and the local bank officials are receiving congratulations on the progressive step they have taken.

UNDERWOOD SAYS NO LEASE PROBABLE

President Coolidge Is Of Like Opinion As Senator

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 14.—There is little prospect of leasing the power of Muscle Shoals for a short term, Senator Underwood of Alabama announced today after a conference held with President Coolidge.

Senator Underwood championed a bill to lease the power of Muscle Shoals at the last session of Congress.

Senator Underwood agreed with the view of the President that no lease of the power should be made if it will hinder the final disposition of the properties, a problem that is now being studied by a committee appointed by the president.

IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE ON ROAD'S BRIDGE OVER RIVER

Other Equipment Also Expected To Be Improved

DEPOT RUMOR NOT CONFIRMED

Understood Road Will Install "Y" Track to Turn Engines

The Southern railway will spend several hundred thousands of dollars in improvement of its bridge across the Tennessee river here and in other improvements of equipment in this immediate territory.

Confirmation of some of the rumors, which were published several days ago in The Daily, was given today by Superintendent Payne's office, in Sheffield.

Official announcement today came from that office that the Southern would install a spur track across the river from here, to handle supplies, that a large force of men would be recruited at once, and work of improving the bridge would be started as early as possible.

The cost of the work on the bridge was estimated at between $100,000 and $200,000 and it was said probably 12 months would be required to complete the job. The piers will be strengthened and the bridge otherwise improved and made stronger.

The announcement did not confirm reports that improvements probably would be made on the union station here.

It is understood also that the Southern plans to install a "Y" track here this summer. The track would be used to turn locomotives. Just what effect the installation of this track would be is not definitely known here. The announcement from Sheffield today did not cover this point. Many hoped, however, that the "Y" track would mean that the Southern plans to use this as a division terminal.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Incappeditated, mentally, by shock, as a result of experience during the World War, Renshaw makes a proposition to David Campbell, wealthy, elderly man of leisure, that for a year he assume responsibility for him (Renshaw)—practically "buy" him. Doctor Stanley, life-long friend of Campbell's, indorses the proposition, which Campbell, with some natural misgivings, accepts. The arrangement is that the young man becomes an inmate of the Campbell household, with the nominal duty of secretary. Renshaw meets Verity, Campbell's granddaughter, and gets the impression that she does not like him, yet she, the butler, Renshaw also feels, is distinctly hostile.

CHAPTER II.—At dinner, a guest, referred to as Madame Hvoeslef, is not present. Renshaw has a feeling that the servants are spying on him. Janis warns him that there are "queer things" going on in the house. That night he is disturbed by the appearance on the wall of his room of a small blue circle of light. Mysterious noises in the corridor outside his door cause him to investigate, but he discovers nothing unusual.

CHAPTER III.—Campbell tells Renshaw that the household is in some respects "unusual," but makes light of his story of the mysterious sounds. Renshaw meets Madame Hvoeslef, a foreigner, with an air of mystery.

CHAPTER IV.—Madame Hvoeslef asks Renshaw to go to New York, a short journey, on mission for her next day. During the night the blue circle again appears and the mysterious noises are heard. Renshaw discovers he is locked in. He hears the sound of a heavy body dragging itself up to the transom over the door. The butler appears, apparently seeking to open the transom. Unsuccessful, the hand vanishes, and Renshaw hears the sound of a heavy body crawling away.

CHAPTER V.—Remembering Jenks' warning, Renshaw tells the story of the mysterious noises, but gets no satisfaction. Madame Hvoeslef gives him a handbag, declaring its contents are priceless, which he is to deliver to Mr. Atkins in New York. After dressing, Renshaw again finds his door locked, but it is promptly opened by Janis. Renshaw delivers the bag. Hart, Campbell's chauffeur, who drove him to town, tells him Verity and Madame Hvoeslef are at the Waldorf. Remembering his locked door that morning Renshaw is vaguely uneasy about the handbag, and calls up Atkins. He learns that the bag he delivered contained only blank paper.

CHAPTER VI.—Meeting the ladies at the Waldorf, Renshaw learns that Madame Hvoeslef's property is safe, the bag he delivered being a duplicate, for which no explanation can be made. Hart gets permission to stay in town that night, producing a substitute chauffeur. On the way home Renshaw sends back the substitute, taking the wheel himself.

CHAPTER VII.—Despite her indifference Renshaw feels his self becoming deeply interested in Verity. During the night he is awakened by the girl, who tells him her grandfather had an accident and is unconscious. They get the old man to bed. Restored to consciousness he with difficulty conveys to Renshaw a message. "Watch! Take charge!"

CHAPTER VIII.—Verity is annoyed at her grandfather placing Renshaw in charge, but they reach an amicable understanding, Verity being impressed by Renshaw's masterful handling of the situation.

CHAPTER IX.—Doctor Stanley visits Campbell, and departs, leaving the local doctor, Morris, in charge. Stanley makes light of the mysterious episodes, as Renshaw describes them. He tells the secretary Madame Hvoeslef's property in the handbag was her memoirs, which she feared might be stolen.

me just this instant. And by Jove— He had turned and was twisting the doorknob, at first easily, then fiercely. Now he leaned against the heavy oak, exerting all his strength to push it outward. It did not yield.

"What's wrong with it?" The girl's words were breathless. He had had time to think.

"Why, nothing at all," he said in matter-of-fact tones. "The door slammed with such force that it stuck fast. I'll have it open in a moment!"

"Oh!" He heard her exhale her caught breath on the word. She was reassured, but only momentarily. He himself was not reassured at all. In his hand the doorknob was turning round and round without resistance. It did not catch and retract the lock. Yet the knob had opened the door. Of course, it was possible that the inner knob had got out of order, and that no one had discovered it. About the only way one was likely to discover it was by vainly trying to open the closed door from the inside. All that might happen. All that was easily understood.

But—why had the door closed? It had been half way open, at right angles with the threshold, and his hand had not touched it. There was no draft in the hall to swing it to. Moreover, only on the wings of an incipient cyclone could a draft be borne to close a door with the violent slam that had accompanied the closing upon them of this door. The motive power of the slam was a strong human push. He was convinced of that. Yet who could have administered the push? No one had been in the hall—no one, that is, that he had seen. When he entered the closet and for that moment stood on its threshold, the open door itself had cut off from his vision anyone or anything that might suddenly have come along the hall.

As he thought he worked over the knob, twisting it this way and that way, trying various combinations, pushing against the door quietly but with all his strength, hoping against hope that the mechanism would catch and turn. Unless it did catch and turn, they were prisoners. All the time he realized that it would not catch and turn. And he had nothing in his pockets to work with, not even a small penknife.

He redoubled his efforts. The knob whirled smoothly round and round. Perspiration broke out upon his brow. This was a devilish situation for the girl to be in! The closet was as black as an underground dungeon, and so small that, though she had stepped away from him to give him room to work, he could hear her quick breathing and the soft rustle of her garments as she moved.

That wing was the loneliest spot in the house. Even if they made the biggest kind of racket, it might be long before anyone heard them. Probably no one would miss them or begin to look for them till tea time—possibly not till dinner time. It was now three o'clock, at the most. That meant a wait of hours. And in the interval he would have to tell the girl the truth. He would have to tell her the truth at once. She was plucky. She was trying to keep steady. But he realized that she was fighting an incipient panic.

Yes, "devilish" was the right word for the situation. It was so absolutely the right word, and it fitted so perfectly into the pattern of certain other episodes at Tawno Ker, that a cold conviction settled over him. Of course, the little accident was not an accident at all, though it could so easily be made to seem one. The shutting of that door had been a malicious action—as deliberately malicious as the actions that had so disturbed his nights.

From this conclusion to the next was a short step, and he took it as he patiently experimented with the useless knob. It was unquestionably another malicious outbreak from that same malicious source.

Verity's voice came to him out of the blackness:

"Can't you—open—it?"

"Not yet."

He spoke with robust cheerfulness, and even in her growing panic the girl took in the complete change in the quality of his voice. Renshaw's voice had been one of the things to which she objected in him. It was in itself an agreeable, even a musical barytone, but it spoke with an odd flatness, its possessor were out of key with the harmonies of life. Now it vibrated with a vital quality she had never heard in it before. She appreciated

The Echols Hotel has installed a modern elevator.

Mrs. Florence Forbes has been made a member of the advisory committee of the Live Stock department of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

An automatic ticket seller machine has been installed by the Delite theatre.

Governor Glenn, of North Carolina, will speak tonight at Central Methodist church, on "The Greatest Issue of the Age."

T. M. Jones was elected president and J. T. Jones, secretary and treasurer of the Decatur Compress company at a meeting of directors.

Mrs. A. L. Jolly is convalescent after an illness of several days.

Miss Kitty Bibb left today for a visit to her sister, Mrs. Law Lamar, Jr., in Selma.

DAILY PRAYER—Make us willing we pray Thee, to become the means for carrying forward the work which Thou didst commence in Thy Son, the Savior of the world.

It reports are true that Germany is landing supplies and munitions for the forces now in revolution against the French, then it is hardly likely that the rest of the world can restrain any policy that the French might adopt toward the Hindenberg advocates.

That the United States of America is not going to allow any country in the world to be ahead of her is further testified to by the decision of the secretary of the Navy to have Annapolis men trained in the aviation department as well as in sea-going maneuvers. It seems that this is a step to the front by the naval department, a step that will be of great advantage in the future when aeroplanes will become as ordinary as automobiles.

While we are not in accord with all the policies of the Alabama Power Company, we are sorry to notice that R. M. Shearer is being transferred to another state. Mr. Shearer gave of the best of his ability while he was located in these cities. He tried to combine the interests of the people of these cities with the interests of the Power company. He has made a great many friends for himself and for his company during his short location here.

Editor Pierce over at Huntsville boasts and boasts of the old home town and it is right that he should, but we suggest that he take his foot off the gas on that "Greater Huntsville, the center of the New South" stuff. Huntsville is a good city, the folks make good neighbors but our Valley folks are just as good and the cities growing as fast.—Albany-Decatur Daily.

Get your life, Brother, there are other good towns and some mighty good folk scattered up and down this glorious valley but don't overlook the fact that Greater Huntsville was located here for the sole purpose of being the greatest and best service to the rest of you—hence the metropolis that must be built.—Huntsville Daily Times.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW, ON HIS 91st BIRTHDAY FINDS WORLD STILL GOOD

It is reassuring to read that Chauncey M. Depew, who has had his share of good and bad in his 91 years of life, still finds, on his 91st birthday, that this old world, after all, is "a mighty good world to live in."

"So I have come to the conclusion, after a long experience and many large observations with mature judgment, properly based, and properly buttressed, that the only sure guides to success are character, health and happiness," he writes. "Each man of my age receives personally and by letter innumerable inquiries of how to be happy, how to be healthy and how to live long. Happiness has a curious quality in that it increases by its distribution. Longevity is largely a matter of curbing appetites, until temperance and moderation become habits, and from this review which I have made of the world at large, of our own country and our own community, I am more firmly convinced than ever that this is a mighty good world to live in, inhabited by mighty companionable and lovable people, and I want to stay here as long as I can."

EVOLUTION RAPPED BY PASTOR IN SERMON AT BAPTIST CONVENTION

Rapping those who attempt to "force us to lay aside the Adam of Genesis and accept the build-down man of the Metropolitan museum," Dr. Len G. Broughton, of Jacksonville, had quite a few things to say, in his address at the Baptist convention in Memphis, about present-day tendencies to find new paths in religion.

"Let the scientist keep his hands off of our theology and our Bible as he demands that the theologian shall keep his hands off of his science with its test tubes and microscopes," the speaker demanded.

The remedy for the things he complains of lies not in ignoring the obligation regarding the affairs of the world, the doctor said, but he warns good citizens that they must shoulder their civic duties. He puts the issue squarely up to every man and every woman who is the good of the nation at heart, and he calls their attention to the fact that those who are not actuated by high motives are ready to press their every advantage.

High praise for the type of official who is willing to stand up for what he believes to be right, is given by the speaker in concluding his interesting address.

"A few weeks ago in the city of Memphis, where we are now meeting, eased through the Legislature of Tennessee a bill to give Memphis the right to operate Sunday theatres and professional ball. The country at large seeing an account of this stood amazed; but when the bill came before Governor Austin Peay, our great and honored Baptist Governor of this great State of Tennessee, he had the courage to take his pen and sacredly veto it.

"Practically the same thing happened about the same time over in Arkansas, where we have another great and honored Baptist as chief executive, Governor Tom Terrell; and when the bill came to him he likewise had the courage to veto it. I feel in this presence like proposing three cheers for these two great and brave governors.

"The church has got to face such issues," Dr. Broughton concluded, "and the preacher has got to have nerve enough to put up and keep up a fight against all such forms of evil, lawlessness and disregard for holy things that characterize the present day."

ADMIRAL FISKE MODESTLY ADMITS THAT IT WAS HE WHO WON THE WAR

Americans who fought in France, on the high seas, who worked diligently through processes of preparation for battle, who bought liberty bonds and who otherwise aided their country in the fight against Germany felt they were having their own little part in the defeat of the Kaiser. At this belated day it appears that the role others played was small indeed compared to the here-to-fore almost unrecognized services given by Admiral Fiske (retired) who modestly admits that it was he who won the war. Our country is greatly obliged.

If he had but had a little co-operation, for instance from ex-secretary of the Navy Daniels, Admiral Fiske insists his task would have been much easier. He was forced to encounter the displeasure of Secretary Daniels and run the risk of courtmartial to accomplish the job, but these amounted to nothing, no doubt, to Admiral Fiske, the man who won the war.

His amazing confession of heroism was made in an address delivered before the New Jersey chamber of commerce at Newark and drew the fire of the Anniston Star, which says:

"Even if Admiral Fiske had played any very important part in winning the war, credit for his work would have come with better grace and doubtless with much more force from other sources. Personal claims bearing so conspicuously the mark of egotism are not readily accepted by a public that is and has been all along fairly well informed concerning the conduct of the war. Rear Admiral Fiske may think he won the war, but he can hardly expect the American people to agree with him when they know differently."

Admiral Fiske personally voiced advertisement of himself is quoted in part by the New York World as follows: Admiral Fiske personally voiced advertisement of himself of unlawful acts by him, for which he might have been court martialled and dismissed, and because of which he actually was forced to resign his position in apparent disgrace, saved the United States from defeat at the hands of Germany. He said the war—called by Lloyd George a "race between Hindenburg and Wilson"—was won by a hair by Wilson because a "few army and navy officers" got the army and navy ready "in spite of" the President.

Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, was flayed by Admiral Fiske as a pacifist and a blundering interferer, who fought Fiske's ideas early in the war and then claimed them as his own when they proved the salvation of the army.

"I was discredited officially and forced to resign my position," Admiral Fiske declared, but everything I told Mr. Daniels would happen did happen and in a more extreme degree than I had predicted.

Secretary Daniels, he said, "like many men who had never been charged with large responsibilities" tried to attend to all details of the Navy Department himself instead of through the four Naval Aids provided by his predecessor. He got rid of two of those aids, Admiral Fiske said and so interfered with and lessened the usefulness of the others that when the war broke out he had "made our navy wholly unmanageable for the purpose of war."

Mr. Daniels, though urged continually to adopt an administrative plan which would show at all times the preparedness of all bureaus of the navy, failed to do so and "seemed to be thrown into an antagonistic frame of mind at every mention of the world 'war' the Admiral continued. Admiral Fiske secretly had himself called before the House Naval Committee by Representative Hobson, he said, and successfully refuted the Secretary's roseate "Proof of the Preparedness of the Navy," his report of December, 1914.

This and the subsequently influencing of Representative Hobson to engineer legislation changing the title of Aid for Operations to Chief of Naval Operations and give him more power was "in defiance of all military procedure and against the law of Congress," Admiral Fiske said. Yet, he asserted, it resulted in the reversion of both Secretary Daniels and President Wilson's policies toward preparation for the emergency and made possible transporting an army to France "in the nick of time."

It is "laughable how naval officers enjoy 'taking a crack' at Mr. Daniels. The public probably knows by this time that officers did not care for him. Certainly the majority of them have never lost an opportunity to acquaint the public with that fact. Here is Admiral Fiske, years after the war ended and Mr. Daniels retired to private life, hammering away at Josephus.

There may be many reasons why the former secretary became so well disliked by the officers of the navy, while he retained the affection of the enlisted men. Probably the best reason, however, was that Mr. Daniels took the view that gentlemen are created by God and not by act of congress.

Secretary Daniels respected his officers, but he respected his seamen also. It will be recalled by those people of retentive memories, that some days before the war, Mr. Daniels decided that if intoxicating liquor was such a bad thing for enlisted men that it should be barred from the mess table, that it was equally as bad for the officers, and it was barred by him from the wardroom. That regulation of the naval secretary was indicative of the way he felt about things.

Leadership - and why

Graham Brothers impressive advance to first position in the 1½ ton truck field, and second in the 1 ton and the 1½ ton fields combined—during the first quarter of 1925—is explained by four vital reasons:

1. Distinct price advantage.
2. Pronounced quality advantage.
3. Dodge Brothers engine.
4. Substantial character of Dodge Brothers dealer organization.

Ordinary logic demands that these facts receive your immediate consideration if you have any need whatever for a truck.

No Increase in the Price of Firestone FULL-SIZE GUM-DIPPED BALLOONS

The extra quality built in by the extra process of Gum-Dipping, the economy of these wonderful tires and the added mileage obtained from them during the past two years, has created such a large demand that over 75% of Firestone's mammoth production is now Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords.

This has greatly increased the total sales volume and the huge Firestone factories are now working on a 24-hour schedule to supply the demand.

This large volume, produced under the most economical tire manufacturing methods, permits Firestone to sell these extra-process Full-Size Balloons at no extra cost to car owners. And this in the face of greatly advanced cost for crude rubber brought about by the operation of the British Rubber Restriction Act.

Gum-Dipping means longer mileage—greater economy—at no extra cost to you!

Enjoy the safety, economy and comfort of Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords this summer. Let us equip your car now at low cost—with liberal allowance for your old tires.

Public Utility Securities Are Best Investment --Says Roger W. Babson

Think It Over---

The following statement was made by Roger W. Babson at Orchestra Hall, Chicago, December 3, 1924, at a meeting held under auspices of the Chicago Board of Commerce:

"Compared with future development, public utilities are today where the railroads were seventy-five years ago when one was obliged to change cars five times when going between New York and Chicago. Most Bonds of light and power companies now being offered should some day be underlying liens of super power systems with great central generating stations. Furthermore, we as yet are only scratching the surface as to uses for electrical energy. Home, factories, railroads, and other lines should, during the next ten or fifteen years, triple the present demand for electric current.

"Unlike almost every other business, light and power companies have a very small labor item, and even this low proportion of labor expense decreases as the output increased. Almost every new important invention either increases the demand for power or decreases the cost of production; but the cost of transmitting electrical energy generated rates increase; but the cost of transmitting electrical energy generated near the mines will decrease rather than increase. Moreover, water power developments have an exceedingly bright future—owing to the fact that the larger the generating plant, the lower the cost, such companies have nothing to fear from competition.

"I believe the securities of well managed companies supplying light, power, gas, etc., to be the best investment now available, considering both security and yield. I heartily approve customer ownership. I know of no investment paying over six per cent which is as safe as the first preferred 'Customer Ownership' stocks of such companies. When every user of a product is a stockholder of the company producing it we have a condition which will be about one hundred per cent efficient and fair."

MOTHER'S DAY SERVICE LARGELY ATTENDED

A large and appreciative audience attended Mother's Day services held at the First Methodist church last Sunday night following an installation of the officers of the Epworth league. The program was rendered by members of the league, with Mrs. C. I. Lee, as director in charge. The program, "A Mother's Sermon" consisted of readings and song, the reading being done in a most impressive manner by Mrs. L. E. Snyder, the chorus being rendered by several young men and women, members of the league. The entire service was complimented highly, and reflected much credit upon those who had it in charge.

Hartselle Community Club since its organization was held last Tuesday night in the basement of the First Christian church. At this time permanent committees were appointed and a plan of work mapped out for the year. The members are enthusiastic over the prospect of what they intend to accomplish with this much needed organization, and there is every reason to believe that the men including the personnel of its membership, will bring things to pass.

Rev. G. C. Walker, pastor of the First Baptist church, left Monday to attend the Southern Baptist convention at Memphis. Others from this church will leave during the week to attend the sessions.

CROP CONDITIONS THE BEST RAPID PROGRESS BEING MADE

Conditions for planting and working the various crops grown in this section were never more ideal than now. Fine rains came to this section this week, making the replanting of cotton unnecessary, and the increased moisture caused the cotton seed to sprout and come rapidly. Many planters in this section have been heard to remark since the rains, that cotton was making rapid headway coming up, and next week would be ready for chopping.

The corn was never finer, and more is planted in the bottom lands of the county than for the past score of years and much of it has been worked over the second time. For the past forty days the soil has been in fine working condition, with just enough rain to cause the plant to thrive and grow fast.

LARGE ACREAGE PLANTED TO SWEET POTATOES

During the last ten days many thousands of sweet potato plants have been sold by local dealers, and it is quite possible that one of the largest crops of this important food product will be grown in this section than for the past several years. Much of the plants have been supplied from local hot beds, others shipped from Cullman and Georgia points. Practically all growers of this tuber for commercial purposes has provided a curing house on his farm, and can take care of large quantities with certainty, whereas the old style of putting up in dry kiln was a hit and miss problem.

HOME GROWN VEGETABLES MAKING APPEARANCE NOW

The first home grown vegetables of any consequence have made their appearance on the local market this week, and fine string beans, Irish potatoes, beets and other vegetables of this class are being sold to local dealers. The Irish potato crop bids fair to be very fine and above a normal crop was planted last Spring.

Everything has been ideal for the home garden, and all are remarkably free from weeds and grass, the vegetables being fine and healthy and making rapid progress. So far no complaint has been launched regarding the Bean Beetle, a pest that last season ruined many fine promises.

GUANO SALES ENDED BUMPER SALES REPORTED

Guano sales in a local way are ended with all dealers practically sold out. This has been fine season dealers report, much high grade material being sold, and free applications made to the crops. It is pointed out by local dealers that it is now the rule for the farmer to use the best and highest grade of commercial fertilizer obtainable, and more per acre is put out than formerly. Several tons of potash has also been handled here, this being used later on for side application to corn, etc.

HARTSELLE GRAMMAR SCHOOL ENDS TERM THIS WEEK

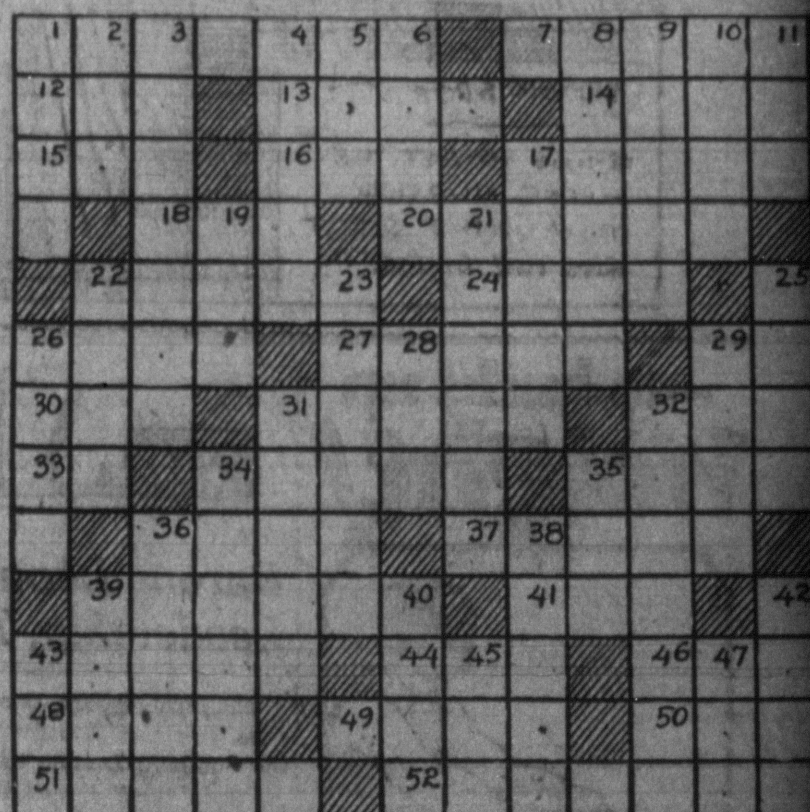

The Hartselle grammar school ends its Spring term this week. Various entertainments by the different grades in the school have given this week. The present term has been one of the most successful in its history. The city board of education will meet this week, at which time teachers for the fall term will be selected.

Mrs. Gusta Thompson of Chattanooga, Tenn., pleasantly remembered here is Miss Gusta Owens, is spending some time with relatives here and elsewhere in the county. This week she is spending the time with her brother Goodman Owens in this city.

ANY WOMAN, any man, can now have a well-developed face and form. The whole, simple secret of a well-developed form is in the number of blood-cells in your body. You can now forget all the theoretical talk about diet, exercise, fat treatments, food-fats and fat-foods. Nothing is of any use, after all, except blood-cells.

Thin, run-down men and women, with bony necks, sunken cheeks, bony shoulders—all these are suffering from one thing—too few blood-cells. Science has proved that S.S.S. helps to make the rich red blood-cells, which you need. Your blood is starving for these new blood-cells! Give your blood the blood-cells it needs—take S.S.S. the great scientific blood-cell maker. S.S.S. has done marvels, too, in making beautiful complexions, clearing the skin, making lips rosy red, the cheeks full and plump—because it rids the blood of impurities which cause pimples, blackheads, acne, blotches, eczema, tetter, rash and rheumatism, too. As the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. This is why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Start taking S.S.S. today and your great problem, that of your personal appearance, can be solved.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Lady Says She Took Cardui and Never Saw Such Improvement—Was So Weak Couldn't Stand.

Weatherby, Miss.—Mrs. James M. Hall, of this place, writes that she was "getting weaker all the time" when Cardui, the woman's tonic, was first brought to her attention. After she had taken Cardui a while, she writes that she "never did see such an improvement."

"I suffered all the time and had pains all over," says Mrs. Hall. "I was so weak I could not stand. My skin was cold and flabby. I did not have any color. I had always been a very active woman—used to outdoor exercise, walking and going where I pleased, and to get down, not able to get myself a drink, was indeed a hardship."

"Nothing seemed to help me, till I began on Cardui. The first bottle seemed to strengthen me, and I went for five more. By the time I had taken these, I was on my feet, going around, doing my work, gained in health and strength."

"I took two more bottles, and I am well and strong. Can work my garden. I haven't had any more sickness."

Barons Loom As Contenders For League Leadership, Taking Third From Crackers

The Birmingham Barons loom as possible contenders for first place in the Southern League today by virtue of their third consecutive win from the Atlanta Crackers. The Crackers have slumped to fourth place as a result of their failure to stop the rush of the Barons.

The Nashville Volunteers are leading the procession at this time by a full game with Birmingham and New Orleans knotted for second position. The hitting of Haas and Bowman has been a feature of the Barons' rise to fame. Wednesday the Barons cracked out a total of 23 hits for 18 runs. Haas hit safely five times out of five trips to bat. Bowman clouted three safeties out of five trips.

Every wearer of Dobbs' livery boosted their hitting stride. The Dobbs fighting spirit at last seems to have been engendered into the Birmingham club. The club got away to a miserable start, roosting in last place during the early weeks of the season and for a time it was believed that the team was of the same calibre that was produced last year.

With the Southern league race one of the tightest in years, a hectic effort will have to be put forth by any club that remains at the top or near the top. Alabama fans believe that the Barons will stand near the top during the remainder of the season.

Connie Mack is leading his clubbers ever onward in the race for American league leadership. The Senators in second place are travelling at a rapid pace with their pitchers hitting on all six, but it seems that Mack is at last emerging from his shell and will be content with only the leadership of the column. The Macks are a full two games ahead of the Senatorial ship, having lost but five games through the entire season.

The Alabama Power company is meeting the Consolidated Sunday Schools team this afternoon at 4:15 o'clock at Malone park.

BEAR CATS WIN

"Y" Dormitory slumped and lost all to the Bear Cats team last night in bowling at the Y. M. C. A. This places the Bear Cats on top and in line for the beautiful trophy awarded the winning team. However, the Decoras may tie them for first place before the week is out and there is a bare chance for the Dormitory to still come out even with the Bear Cats if they win four points from the "Y" Directors next Monday. Match with "Y" Directors is a postponed match.

The only bowler hitting the maples last night was Dr. Baugh who piled up games of 148, 133 and 182, total 463. Clements, Burnett, Nix and Gray also went good.

Teams bowling tonight will be the Machine Shop vs. the Daily. Latter team gets the handicap.

TRY A WANT AD

INSULATED ISLANDERS ASK FOR MAIL ONCE A-YEAR
SOUTHAMPTON, England, May 13—Natives of the Tristan da Cunha in the South Atlantic, known as the loneliest island in the British Empire, petitioned the government recently to arrange an annual mail boat for them, declaring that if this were brought about they would be perfectly contented; otherwise they threatened to emigrate.

News of the settlement was brought here a few days ago by the Rev. H. M. Rogers, who for three years has been a missionary and schoolmaster to the islanders. Mr. Rogers made up his mind more than a year ago to return to England.

Seemingly Endless Search By Women Here Is Rewarded
Many Who Had Given Up and Despaired of Ever Getting Relief Are Now Rejoicing, and Praising St. Joseph's G. F. P.

Thousands more women every day are being rewarded for their constant search of that something which they simply had to have to revive their strength, energy and vitality. It is actually a revelation to see the many women who had been worrying through life, day after day and month after month, trying first one thing then the other to get rid of their trouble, who are now released from the clutches of the demon catarrh, which was really the cause of all their misery but they didn't know it.

The delicate generative organs must be free from the catarrhal inflammation which keeps them from being steady, strong and healthy. And the entire system must be kept free from any obstruction such as waste matter in the passages, so the blood you eat can furnish nourishment to the delicate organs, nerves, muscles and tissue.

It has been proven beyond a doubt that the use of St. Joseph's G. F. P. faithfully as directed on each bottle, quickly overcomes the irregularity, nervousness, irritability, cramps, pains in the sides and back, loss of weight, no appetite, easy to catch colds, and that run-down, don't care, languid feeling all the time. Many hundreds of girls and women are making public statements every day telling of their happiness and robust health, with plenty of energy and vitality since they are able to get G. F. P., on account of it being introduced here.
